

Born on August 22nd, 1981 as Irena Angelova. ANGELIRE is a Denmark-based independent singer/songwriter with her finger on the pulse of the alternative country music genre.

Her singing career began with singing covers when she was just 17 years old, and her passion for singing became her profession. Born in a family of musicians, ANGELIRE has always had her parents' support in her musical activities, and they have encouraged her to follow her heart - the music!

On the other hand, her talent for writing poems from a childhood age have a huge impact on her own music, with which she bravely expresses her true feelings.

Country music is the genre which gives her the sense of being at home, this is the genre that always remains bright for her while others dim at times. The sound of country music, the lyrics and the natural vibe, spoke to ANGELIRE in a manner so familiar that she couldn't resist taking the path to this beautiful call!

Today she sees herself as a happy and successful touring artist, and she feels honored and grateful to be taking part in themed festivals, concerts and events around Europe. Just listen to her magical voice and you will discover the pure love she sings in her stories.